

Stay informed with SAA's Online Physician Resources Available at www.spondylitis.org

The SAA is committed to raising awareness about ankylosing spondylitis and its complications both within and outside of the medical community. The number of misconceptions and the amount of inaccurate information about AS in the public at large and in the media requires the SAA's continuing efforts to educate and inform.

◆ Free Continuing Medical Education Courses

SAA offers free CMEs online so that physicians can stay abreast of the latest information on ankylosing spondylitis and related diseases. Currently, we offer two CMEs:

- "A CME of Enduring Material Developed for Rheumatologists to Review Recent Guidelines Regarding the Assessment and Treatment of Ankylosing Spondylitis." - Sponsored by the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Montefiore & the Spondylitis Association of America.
- "Ankylosing Spondylitis and Related Spondyloarthropathies: AGGRESSIVE MANAGEMENT OF AGGRESSIVE DISEASES." - Jointly sponsored by Dannemiller Memorial Educational Foundation and the Spondylitis Association of America.

You can view the CMEs in our Physician Resources section, which can be found online at: http://www.spondylitis.org/physician_resources

◆ Free Patient Assessment Downloads

SAA offers free patient assessment downloads online including the BASDAI, BASFI and Treatment Options downloads.

You can view/download these materials in our Physician Resources section, which can be found online at: http://www.spondylitis.org/physician_resources

◆ Educational Materials

SAA offers a number of educational materials to help inform patients and doctors alike. These materials include books, brochures, videos and audio tapes.

You can browse our available educational materials online at:
<http://www.spondylitis.org/materials>